WHILE EUROPE WAITS FOR PEACE. By Pierrepont B. Noyes. The Macmillan Company, New York, 1921.

This little book is written by Pierrepont B. Noyes, American Rhineland Commissioner, April, 1919, to June, 1920. It should be read by the vociferous, selfish and ignorant advocates of non-participation in European affairs except to the extent of exacting the pound of flesh. The folly, both from a financial and political standpoint, of driving Germany into bankruptcy and keeping her there, fostering Bolshevism, is strongly presented. The rehabilitation of Germany is made almost impossible on account of the United States' desertion of Europe. Without the United States, France, for her own protection, must keep Germany beneath her heel. As a result there is the brutality of a foreign standing army in Germany, French machinations to foment revolution and separatist movements in Germany, the refusal of the French to place any limit on the German indemnity. The evidence is given from the author's experience as commissioner.
